You're a cadet at the Royal Imperial Academy, you have been the chosen one from your planet to study and become part of the Royal Intergalactic SpaceForce, to explore the Universe, to defend his name, honor and Galaxy waging war against the enemies of the Mighty Emperor.

Today you begin your journey in your new life!

You open your eyes in a white floor and hear a voice from beyond:

Karen: Hello Cadet! I'm Chief Master Sergeant Karen Hernández. I oversee the training of all cadets at the Royal Imperial Academy.

Let me explain how things work here:

You will be given 4 challenges to complete, depending on how many you are able to complete you will enter the academy with a different rank.

You will use your physical, mental and BlockGun capacities to complete the challenges.

Is that understood?

Gossan: Yes, ma'am!

Karen: Good, I don't like to repeat myself.

After finishing the tutorial:

Karen: Good, you're not a total dumbwit. No go and try your luck in the next challenge

Fase 1:

Karen: Now let's see if you are worth something or nothing more than some peasant from Earth.

After finishing the challenge:

Karen: Good, you might have some use after all

Fase 2:

Karen: Now let's see if you are smart or just some dumbwit that can jump

After finishing the challenge:

Karen: Huh, might be just your face that looks stupid

Fase 3:

Karen: Now let's see if you are worth of High Command or just a low class Officer

After finishing the challenge:

Karen: Well, well, well, I guess I owe you my congratulations Cadet. Or Should I say High Commander. You know you're smarter than you look
